Doughboy statue and monument: an update

By W. Lynn Nickell

Twenty-two men from Morgan County died serving our country in World War I. This total includes those killed in action and those who died of wounds or medical problems. The face of the doughboy statue that stood on the West Liberty's Courthouse Square facing Main Street before it was toppled and damaged by the March 2 tornado could be a composite of the 22.

The statue could resemble John E. Hill, Harlan Perry, Morton Nickell or David Blair. He could resemble all of the 22 in the minds of their families. I do know he was young, handsome and resembles the true American Spirit of our fighting men.

An article in the Lexington Herald on July 9 by Daniel Moore appeared to quote this writer as saying, "Our monument is an E. M. Viquesney-designed statue and it was one of 140 in 38 states." I did not say that. Furthermore, I have never believed our statue was a Viquesney. The Viquesney design has the soldier throwing a grenade with his right hand as is the one in the Rowan County Courthouse lawn in Morehead. I do plan on doing more research on the Morgan County statue when I get time. The only information I have ever obtained on the statue was from a 1927 edition of The Licking Valley Courier stating that it came from Italy at a cost of $400.00 and arrived at the Index depot. Jack Cole, proprietor of the Cole Hotel transported it to West Liberty.

As most of you know, or should know, work is progressing on re-erecting a doughboy on the courthouse lawn and preserving the original doughboy, which is to be placed in the old Morgan County courthouse or the new judicial building. Over the years names of World War I veterans from Morgan County have been added to the memorial. This will be an opportune time to add names to the monument if needed. If any member of your family was born in Morgan County and was either drafted or volunteered from this county or any other county for service during World War I whose name does not appear on the monument, please send a copy of his discharge and birth certificate to Shorty Terry, 2420 Liberty Road, West Liberty, Ky. 41472, or to W. Lynn Nickell, 440 Riverside Drive, West Liberty, Ky. 41472. This information will in turn be given to Jerry Cecil, who has expertise in this field, to verify the individual's service through various military departments.

Things are progressing very well with the restoration of the statue being done by Steve Tirone at Morehead. We received good news last week that he will be able to refurbish the plaques as well as add new names if needed. Steve and Eddie Horton, a fellow sculptor, are donating their time for this project. They are willing to make a new statue in bronze like the original to be placed on a new pedestal. This will not be donated but the cost may be covered by insurance. If not it will require a fund-raising project to cover the cost.

There is good news on this. According to Jerry Cecil, there are funds available to cover the cost from military groups. He is already pursuing this avenue in case the funds are needed.

The committee for the restoration of the statue and monument is comprised of Cindy Oakley, chairperson; Linda Oakley, Vicci Q. Lewis, Lynn Nickell, Shorty Terry, Jerry Cecil, and Dusti Lewis.

Dead Farm Animal Removal funding renewed in Morgan

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 20 — The Kentucky Agricultural Development Board, chaired by Gov. Steve Beshear, approved $5,000 at its monthly meeting in support of a Deceased Farm Animal Removal Program in Morgan County. The Morgan County Conservation District submitted a proposal to the Morgan County Agricultural Development Council and the Kentucky Agricultural Development Board.

The Deceased Farm Animal Removal Program was established as an interim measure to facilitate the coordination of environmentally sound and cost-effective disposal of deceased livestock for Kentucky's producers. Funds through this program will assist with the expenses of an acceptable disposal program, such as contracting for removal, incineration, composting or other methods that meet Kentucky statutes.

For more information about Morgan County's dead animal removal plan, contact Norma Prince with the conservation district at 606-743-3897.

Mayor resigns, then changes his mind

He no longer resides in West Liberty, Rupe tells Council Monday

West Liberty Mayor Jim Rupe on Monday submitted a letter of resignation to the City Council, giving as his reason that he no longer resides within the city limits.

But apparently after discussions with council members and friends, Rupe withdrew his resignation the next day.

City Clerk Sally Barker said Tuesday that council members had planned to hold an emergency meeting later in the week to consider the situation.

"The council had wanted to wait until City Attorney Joleen Frederick could be present before deciding on how to proceed with appointing an interim mayor," Barker said.

Rupe, a long-time city resident and council member, was appointed mayor in 2009 following the death of Mayor Bob Nickell. He was elected to a full term in 2010, defeating retired Morgan County PVA Darrell Bradley.

Rupe's term expires in 2014.

Local banks to disperse relief funds to recovery organizations

By Miranda M. Cantrell

Local banking officials are planning to disperse money contributed to their tornado relief funds through various recovery effort channels as they continue to rebuild and renovate their institutions.

Commercial Bank, Bank of the Mountains, Citizens Bank and First National Bank each have relief funds to which local citizens and people across the nation have donated at various locations or by mail.

Several bank representatives said earlier this year that all money donated to the funds will remain in Morgan County as many citizens begin to rebuild their homes and businesses.

Commercial Bank

Commercial Bank CEO Hank Allen said that his institution is allocating funds to the Morgan County Long Term Recovery Team and Gateway Area Development District (ADD) to assist individuals and businesses in need.

"We believe both of these organizations will do what is best for Morgan County," Allen said. "Contributions have come in from all over the country — most of them in small amounts. That tells me that people gave from the heart, and we want to see that these funds benefit those affected by the tornado."

Gateway ADD is also collaborating with the Perry County-based coalition known as The Foundation for Appalachian Kentucky (FAKY), which seeks to support long-term recovery efforts in tornado-stricken Morgan, Magoffin, Menifee and Laurel counties.

In other news, Commercial Bank's new Index branch — located in the former Dairy Cheer building — is open for business with a full range of services, including walk-in teller and loan assistance, a three-lane drive-thru, an ATM machine and a night deposit slot.

The Index facility will remain open after the reconstruction of the main downtown branch, which is scheduled to be demolished in the coming weeks.

"People have been very understanding through this ordeal," Allen said. "I would like to thank all of our customers for being so patient. We look forward to serving them at our new facilities."

Bank Of The Mountains
Bank of the Mountains Vice President Jodi Stacy said that her institution is allocating relief funds to the Long-Term Recovery Team and Gateway ADD in addition to Morgan County Christian Social Services and the volunteer organization known as the Appalachian Service Project, which is currently repairing tornado-damaged Morgan County homes.

"We decided to disperse the funds through other organizations," Stacy said. "We felt this was the best way to make sure that the money was distributed fairly. There is also money set aside for small businesses affected by the tornado that we will allocate at a later date."

Stacy noted that bank officials are overseeing repairs to the drive-thru facility in downtown West Liberty, as well as the construction of a new conference hall located near the downtown branch.

"The drive-thru is coming together very quickly," Stacy said. "The new building is still in progress, but we have not started renovations at the downtown branch building because we are still negotiating with insurance companies."

Stacy also expressed optimism regarding the community recovery effort.

"We appreciate our customers' patience as we rebuild," Stacy said. "I hope people throughout the county will stay positive. The recovery will be a slow process, but I have no doubt that everyone's efforts will pay off in the long run."

Citizens Bank
Citizens Bank Branch Manager Cody Prater said his institution will also donate relief funds to the Long-Term Recovery Team.

"We are glad to be able to help the community," Prater said. "Everyone here is very excited about the future of our bank and of Morgan County."

Prater also noted that construction will begin in September on a new building to replace the former facility on Prestonsburg Street that was recently razed due to severe tornado damage.

"Our builder estimates that the bank could be finished by the end of the year," Prater said. "It will be where the Tommy's grocery store building used to stand. The lot where the old bank once stood will be used for parking. The new bank will be geared toward customer convenience with many new features."

First National Bank
First National Bank Vice President/Office Manager David Ison said that his institution would also likely donate relief funds to the Long-Term Recovery Team in the future.

"Our fund has received a good response," Ison said. "We want to help people who are still in need as a result of the tornado."

First National Bank sustained the least devastation of all affected bank facilities during the tornado, which caused mostly cosmetic damage to the building's exterior.

Federal guide to help rural areas with economy

Rural communities now have access to a guide outlining federal funding that's available to help with economic development. The Federal Resources for Sustainable Rural Communities guide contains information about how rural places can protect healthy environments, improve infrastructure and provide useful services to residents.

The guide also includes information about funding and technical assistance available to rural communities from the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Department of Transportation and the Environmental Protection Agency. Rural Development Undersecretary Dallas Tonsager said during a speech in Lincoln, Neb., "Creating great places to live, raise families, provide recreational opportunities and infrastructure for high paying jobs in rural America is very important ... This publication will provide easy, one-stop access to federal funding sources."

Extension Service marks agents' 150 years service

Extension agents hired to 'see both sides', give wise counsel, leadership'

County extension agents have been helping rural communities across the U.S. with a everything from farming to food preservation to finances to 4-H, for a century or more, and as land-grant institutions mark the 150th anniversary of the law that led to their creation, some are marking the 100th anniversary of extension programs in their states.

Charles Mahan was hired as the University of Kentucky's first full-time county agent in 1912, two years before Congress established the Cooperative Extension Service, Katie Pratt of UK Ag News reports. By the spring of 1913, UK had hired six more agents, and the first home demonstration agents, now known as family and consumer sciences agents, were hired the following year.

County 4-H agents have existed since at least 1917, though under a different title and on a part-time basis until the 1960s.

Mahan wrote that one of his top jobs was to "develop sane, safe, local leaders who can be trusted to think things through, see both sides of the question, give wise counsel and leadership." He "helped determine that extension agents' function should be primarily education, offering unbiased, research-based information to their clients," Pratt reports. That continues to be the philosophy of Cooperative Extension, she writes. Though extension's role has evolved since 1912, Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service Director Jimmy Henning told Pratt that the agency is still "seeking to find and serve people where they are and in ways they want to receive information."

Commercial Bank continues to serve customers at new Index branch

By Miranda M. Cantrell
Commercial Bank officials recently celebrated the opening of their new Index branch as they look forward to the construction of a new downtown facility.

CEO Hank Allen said the Index branch – located in the former Dairy Cheer building – is a fully functional bank with walk-in teller and loan services, a three-lane drive-thru, an ATM machine and a night deposit slot.

"This is a state-of-the-art bank," Allen said. "We are excited to have such a facility open so soon after the tornado. This is the first step to restoring the convenience that we seek to provide to our customers."

Approximately 12 employees have moved from the Morehead State University Enterprise Center, which will remain the bank's center of operations until officials return to downtown West Liberty.

Allen noted that bank officials are preparing for the demolition of their current Main Street building, which sustained severe tornado damage.

"The bank building won't be there much longer," Allen said. "The demolition should begin soon. Our vault will be left on the site and the new bank will be built around it. The new building is currently in the design phase."

The mobile unit in the bank's downtown parking lot will remain on site until further notice. Bank officials extend their gratitude to the institution's customers.

"We appreciate the patience and understanding of our customers," Allen said. "And we are pleased to continue serving them at our new location."

For additional information regarding Commercial Bank's services, call 743-3195 or visit bank employees at the Index branch or the mobile unit in downtown West Liberty.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandon Curtis Evans

Bolin-Evans marriage vows exchanged May 26

Miss Ashley Elaine Bolin, daughter of Kim Ross, of Ezel, and the late David Watkins, became the bride of Mr. Brandon Curtis Evans, son of Dexter and Karen Evans, of Woodsbend, on Saturday, May 26. Traditional wedding vows were exchanged at 6:30 p.m. in a romantic candlelight ceremony in Gatlinburg, Tennessee with Rev. Travis Tatum officiating.

The reflection in a pond of the Little Log Wedding Chapel, the fountain, and the tranquil trickling of a Smoky Mountain stream provided a serene rural setting. The quaint chapel was elegantly decorated with white floral arrangements and candelabra, peace lilies, and ferns. A stained-glass centerpiece set the background for the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, Justin Ross, the bride wore an A-line gown with a chapel train made of white bridal taffeta and chiffon. It was fashioned with a lace-up back and the side-draped, strapless bodice was enhanced with pearl beading and floral appliques of chantilly lace. She carried a clutch bridal bouquet of fresh purple and lilac Asiatic lilies and a tiara adorned her hair.

The mothers of the bride and groom, dressed in plum attire, participated in the unity candle ceremony.

Katie Stacy served her friend as matron of honor. She wore a plum sleeveless, street-length dress, featuring a V-front and V-back neckline. She carried a clutch bouquet that coordinated with the bride's. Jenna Briley Evans, niece of the groom, coordinated with the bride by wearing an A-line gown with cap sleeves and a split-front overlay. She carried a white flower basket as she dropped plum petals.

Travis Stacy served the groom as best man. Dexter Blake Evans, nephew of the groom, served as Jr. groomsman.

Following the ceremony, a reception with plum, white, and black color scheme, was held at Calhoun's Banquets and Copper Cellar Catering with a dinner buffet and a 3-tiered wedding cake. The wedding guests were entertained with a musical performance by Tom and Kathy Arnold, of Louisville, cousins of the groom.

Ashley is a 2006 graduate of Morgan County High School and attended Morehead State University. Her maternal grandparents are Geneva Patterson Bolin and the late Ollie Bolin. Paternal grandparents are Orville Watkins and the late Emma Cornett Watkins, all of Ezel.

Brandon is a 2002 graduate of Morgan County High school and a 2007 graduate of Morehead State University. His maternal grandparents are Louise Combs Ratliff, of West Liberty, and the late Billy Curtis Ratliff. Paternal grandparents are the late Dexter and Letha Holbrook Evans.

Brandon and Ashley are employees of Bank of the Mountains and are residing at their home at Woodsbend.

July 23--Greetings from the Junction.

Summer is almost over for me and the kids of Morgan County. School will be starting up early part of August. I have enjoyed the time off and was able to spend much needed time with family and friends.

East Valley School has lost some "oldies, but goodies" in their staff. Avanell Adams and Carolyn Bishop have both retired this year. I can't begin to tell you how much Carolyn had did for our community thru the Family Resource Center. This was her community and her friends and she always went up and beyond to find the services and needs to provide for those who were going through difficult times or needed additional help. She will be sadly missed by staff and our community.

East Valley seems like my home. I started working there in 1996 when we first moved to Kentucky. I had the opportunity to work with all these fine people every day for years. So they become as family. I wish Carolyn, Avanell, and Dennis Ball, (he, too, is retiring this year) a blissful retirement full of joy and rest.

And Tommy Potter has taken superintendent job in Elliott County. I congratulate you on your new job and much success.

Condolences to Robert Tolson, in the death of his son, Robert. Funeral services were on Sunday, July 22, at Herald and Stewart and Halsey. Burial was in the Davis Cemetery, Grassy Creek, Ky.

Congratulations to Mary Beth Harmon, who has won a scholarship from Cox Foods. Mary Beth is the daughter of Wesley and Kim Harmon, and will be a senior at Morehead this semester.

Housewarming wishes to Mike and Pam Vest. They have moved to new home on Deadman Branch. Also, Sylvia Burchett, Pam's mom is staying with them.

Kellacey

By Sandra Carpenter

July 23 — Thought for the week: Our thoughts and prayers are with the families of Aurora, Colorado, in the devastation of the travesty that happened to all those present at the movie theater. God richly bless each and all while they overcome this tragedy.

I was reading in last week's LVC the article that Dale Bailey had written and began to think back to the same time as he was describing. I was "grewed up" just around the curve from Dale's grandparent's, Herbert and Thelma Bailey. I can bring back to memory when as a child I would go to my Dad's parents' house (Joe and Rose Sheets- Carpenter). There I would see Herbert Bailey visiting with them. He was a regular visitor. Back then people visited more because there was nothing else to do except work and visit your neighbors, mostly by walking.

About the only place you went was to church, town for supplies or to family get togethers.

I remember going to my grandparents' home. They had many outdoor buildings. Each one had a purpose: the underground cellar was so cool down there on a hot day. I would go down and they had bins made which held their potatoes they raised out of the garden. Then they had shelves built where there was a great supply of jars canned with such pretticolored fruits and vegetables. My Granny Rose would take a rag and wipe the dust to keep them looking good. Above the cellar was an attic where they would hull out beans and other seeds and put them up there on newspapers to dry out—or apples to make pies with.

Then they had the smoke house. It was used when they slaughtered the hogs and they would have big old hams hanging in there on ropes and have them patted down with salt. They would fix these for special occasions, like Christmas or Thanksgiving.

Then they had the hen house, with their hens in there to supply eggs. Papaw would go in there in the evening to gather the eggs. I was always afraid of chickens and espically roosters (to this day), so you didn't catch me in the hen house. I was afraid of being flogged. Mom said she was flogged by a rooster when she was pregnant with me. So I don't know if that has anything to do with it or not.

They had a big old barn, where they would take the hogs and kills them and hang them up. There was a shed with corn and a big box with a grinder on it to shell the corn off the cobs. I can remember doing that. They raised corn to feed the hogs, and chickens, then have the hogs and chickens for food. They raised everything they ate except for flour and sugar.

Those were the good ole day. You could trust most anyone those days. People would lend a helping hand without having to ask. Everyone worked together to make it happen. It would be good if that existed today. That time seems so long ago, but not forgotten. I wish kids these days knew how it all really got started and they had a chance to live like we did in the good ole days.

Police bust Elliott County meth lab

SANDY HOOK — Kentucky State Police on Tuesday, July 17, arrested an Elliott County man for allegedly running a methamphetamine lab at his home.

According to a news release from the Morehead State Police Post, troopers who had gone to the home of John C. Maddox on Gallion Branch Road to serve arrest warrants found a meth lab on Maddox's property.

The KSP Special Response Team was summoned to the scene and removed Maddox from his residence. He was taken into custody and charged with manufacturing meth.

Troopers from the KSP's Drug Enforcement Special Investigations section and deputies from the Elliott and Carter county sheriff's departments also assisted.

MEDICAL Moment

Sedation, Anesthesia-What To Expect

Marie remembers having general anesthesia to have her wisdom teeth removed several decades ago. Next week, she'll have a much more invasive heart procedure but will remain conscious. Her doctor assures her that she should have no discomfort.

Sedation, along with analgesia or local anesthesia to relieve pain, is now used for many procedures that once required general anesthesia, and the distinction may be hard for some to understand. How can I feel comfortable if I'm awake while someone is cutting into my body or pushing a tube down my throat? Marie thought.

Anesthesia is constantly changing, and with numerous drug options now available, doctors can offer the patient a combination that will provide the greatest comfort and the quickest recovery at the lowest risk.

GENERAL ANESTHESIA: As Marie knows, there are advantages to being "knocked out" even for having wisdom teeth pulled. You don't feel or remember anything—even the anxiety of knowing you're being worked on or the discomfort of being in one position for an extended period. You go to sleep, and when you wake up, the whole thing is over.

Doctors still recommend general anesthesia for procedures that take a long time (such as knee replacement) or affect breathing (heart bypass surgery). Risks are relatively high, however, so it's necessary to meet with the doctor ahead of time to discuss your medical history, allergies and habits such as smoking and alcohol use. It's imperative to tell your doctor about all of the medications, vitamins and supplements you're taking (since some can increase bleeding) and to follow instructions carefully about food and liquid intake in the hours before the procedure.

During general anesthesia, the muscles of the chest are relaxed enough that a breathing mask or breathing tube is needed to keep your airways open. You'll also be hooked to machines that continuously monitor heart rate, blood pressure, respiratory rate, oxygen and carbon dioxide levels, temperature, brain activity and the concentration of the anesthetic. And even after the procedure is over, the patient must be monitored for three or four hours—sometimes overnight—in an anesthesia care unit.

Common side effects include shivering, nausea (perhaps vomiting), headache, sore throat from breathing tube and disorientation. More serious side effects such as suffocation, allergic reaction, organ failure, stroke and heart attack are rare but nevertheless possible.

With the monitoring technology available today, the risk of death with general anesthesia is less than 1 in 100,000. With the other options now available, however, it is rarely the first choice except for difficult, complex procedures.

REGIONAL ANESTHESIA: Whereas local anesthetics are injected just under the skin to block pain at the site, regional anesthesia goes further along the path leading to the brain, blocking signals from a central nerve or cluster of nerves.

For Cesarean births, most women today prefer a spinal or epidural that results in loss of sensation from the waist down but allows the mother to remain conscious. These are also used for lower abdominal surgery and, in some cases, hip or knee replacement.

SEDATION: A sedative is a tranquilizer, and sedation is the state of being calmed. Children and adults—undergoing dental procedures benefit from being calmed. And so do individuals undergoing cosmetic surgery, colonoscopy or cardiac catheterization. Sedation is usually combined with a local anesthetic or an analgesic such as fentanyl to relieve the pain.

In most cases, you remain awake during procedural sedation and can answer questions but are relaxed, sleepy and unconcerned about the project at hand. If something unpleasant happens, your memory of it will be blunted.

Drugs are often similar to those used for general anesthesia. And with deep sedation, there may be little difference in effect. In most cases, though, a breathing tube is not needed for procedural sedation.

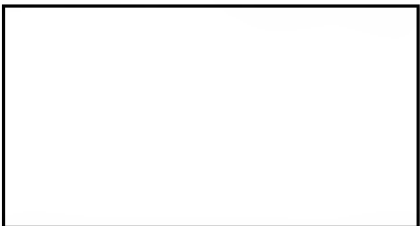

Patients require monitoring but much less than during general anesthesia since the doctor can rely on the patient for feedback. Recovery is also much quicker. In many cases, the patient is able to go home within 30 to 40 minutes after the end of the procedure.

Each type of anesthesia has its own benefits and drawbacks. Which one you choose is ultimately a decision to be made between you and your medical team. Make sure you have all the information you need to make a good decision for your comfort and peace of mind. Bethany Lucas, MD

An Oddity

While looking at some calendars from past years, Mrs. Joyce Bailey, of Jones Creek, noticed that the days on the 1928 calendar, shown above, corresponded with this year's days. July 1, 1928 was on Sunday as was July 1, 2012. A 1984 calendar Mrs. Bailey has also corresponds with the above mentioned years.

Broadway First Church of God

I Kings 18:21 And Elijah came unto all the people, and said, How long halt ye between two opinions? If the Lord be God, follow him: but if Baal, then follow him. And the people answered him not a word. Many have not made the decision to follow God, what are you waiting on? What will it take for you to believe?

The message came from James 1:5-8 where James tells us if we lack wisdom, to ask God and He will give it to us if we ask in faith without wavering. Have you ever been undecided about anything? Life presents us with all types of choices or decisions; like who we choose as friends, what career or job we want in life, what car we want, who we marry, or even where we choose to live. Many of us have problems in deciding what to choose in the decisions we have to make.

For example if we need pain medicine we have to choose the brand we want, then if we want pill, caplet, gel cap, or liquid; then we have to choose what strength we want: regular, extra strength or maxim strength, so it takes time for us to choose what we want. If you are of the female gender, you probably have three or more shampoos in your bathroom because you cannot decide on just one. Or maybe you are out with some other people and try to decide where to eat. Everybody says it doesn't matter but when someone chooses a place it doesn't suit everybody. Sometimes decisions are hard to make.

James says if we waver, we are like a wave that is tossed by the wind. The wind blows in all directions so what James was saying is that the force of wind is what guides which way the wave is tossed. What are the forces that you use in making your decisions? It could be what we know about our decision we have to make, or what our family and friends (our peers) think, or maybe what we might be able to afford, or even what our interests are. What factors do you use when deciding to serve God?

What James says to ask for is wisdom in faith, believing without doubting. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. We need our creator, the Lord God, to give us guidance in the decisions we have to make so we will not be tossed about like a wave. Ephesians 4:14 That we henceforth be no more children, tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of doctrine, by the sleight of men, and cunning craftiness, whereby they lie in wait to deceive. Are you being deceive or tossed about?

People believe all sorts of things when it comes to serving God but it boils down to this; Luke 16:13 No servant can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. James 1:8 A double minded man is unstable in all his ways. Jesus relates being saved like a marriage in a couple of parables. Imagine being married and telling your wife you love her but you love another woman too. You can't love them both so you have to choose, it is the same with serving God. God gave Adam and Eve a choice just the same as he gives us. Many of the choices you make will effect the rest of your life. What will you choose? Come worship with us, we preach about things like this.

Jason Johnson will start our youth program on Thursday, August 2nd, starting at 7:00 at the church. We are excited have Jason and to start this youth program and hope to reach many of our young people for the cause of Christ. Also mark your calendars for August 12th which will be our Homecoming Service; the Fair Haven Quartet will be singing that Sunday with a potluck meal after the service. We hope to see you there.

For prayer requests or comments contact me by phone at 743-4736 or e-mail karleelam@hotmail.com, we'll be glad to hear from you. Until next week, may the Lord bless you is our prayer.

Successful hunt!

Bob Bailey, of Jones Creek Road, West Liberty, had the good fortune of winning an Elk Lottery Permit for the 2011 elk hunting season. Bob's good fortune didn't stop there. On December 10, he, along with his son and grandson, was hunting near the Breathitt-Perry County line when he killed this large cow elk. The elk dressed out approximately 275 pounds of meat. Bob, who is an avid hunter, has enjoyed hunting in several different states. He spends a lot of time training and selling bird dogs. Bob works with all dogs, but Llewelin setters are favorites.

Rejoicing at Red River

How is everybody doing? Hope this finds you happy and God blessed! I just read an article called “Reluctant Volunteer”. It’s about a lady who was asked to volunteer for teaching Sunday school in her church for one month. She really didn’t want to due to not being the type of person who relished being cooped up in a room full of 5-6 year olds; not having a lot of free time; thinking she couldn’t keep the children’s interest; just every excuse she could think of. She told the lady who had asked her to help out that she would “pray about it”. And she did. Guess what God’s response to her was? “Go the second mile!” She thought, “What? You mean 2 months!?” Oh No! Then the Lord spoke to her and a verse from Colossians 3:23 came to her mind and silenced her protests--”Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord...”

On her first Sunday of teaching the class, after crafts and a Bible story, she asked the children if there was anything they wanted to pray about. The children voiced real concerns for their families. One said, “I want to pray for my brother. He’s sick.” Another said, “My parents yell at each other. It makes me sad.” Humbled by their requests she prayed for each one of them by name. When the two months were over, she found herself thanking the Lord for what He had taught her during her time spent stepping out of her comfort zone and teaching Sunday school. Maybe we all need to volunteer to help out in our churches, even if it’s not “in our comfort zones”. We just might learn something and get a good ole blessing from God! Try it sometime!

We are having our Annual Family Fun Day at Red River Community Church on Saturday, July 28, starting at 12:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. We will have crafts, bouncies, bat mitten, water games, basketball, music, food and more! It is free and everyone is invited. We do this once a year to show kids and adults that you can have good clean fun and a good time at church and also to welcome everyone to our church family.

We are also having a multi-family yard sale on the church grounds on Saturday, August 4, from 8 a.m. till ?. All proceeds will go toward church projects. RRCC members clean out your closets and garages and donate to a good cause. For more information call Pastor Glover or Joni at (606) 662-6947.

Our Annual Homecoming service will be Sunday, Sept. 16, featuring the Fairhaven Quartet. Services will begin at 10:00 a.m. and will be followed by dinner downstairs in the fellowship hall. Everyone is invited to attend. We always have a very powerful service.

Visit us at our web site: redrivercommunitychurch.org.

Sunday school 10 a.m. (fellowship and snacks at 9:30); Sunday worship service 10:45 a.m.; Sunday evening service 6 p.m.; Bible study Thursday 7 p.m.; youth meeting Wednesday 6 p.m. Everyone welcome!

Twenty-Six

By Sherry Bailey

July 24 — I need my neighbor’s help. Our little kitten, Shi-Shi, disappeared around two weeks ago. She is 15 weeks old, black with white feet and a little white under her neck. She was a house-kitten, but liked to go outside and lie on the picnic table on the front porch and watch the humming birds feed. I can’t see her running away, unless she followed a stray cat home. I’m so afraid a coyote, fox or dog got her. If she happened to come to your house and couldn’t find her way back home, would you please let me know so I can come and get her? PLEASE CALL ME, even if you have only seen her in a field or dead on the road, or anywhere. Thanks! I just can’t STAND wondering what happened to her.

Received a call recently from Lawrence “Hap” Conley of Pasadena, TX. He sounded good, but I think he misses KY and his friends, which are getting very scarce now. With my Uncle Wyck being gone and my mother being gone, about all that I know of his close friends left in Morgan County is Tom Standafer. There may be scads of other ones, but Tom is the only one I know personally.

Speaking of my mother, Deloris Smith, the 7th anniversary of her death was July 21, 2012. In one way, it does not seem possible that she has been gone that long, and in another way, it seems she’s been gone much longer than that. I still miss her so much. I wouldn’t wish her back to this world to suffer, if she still had back spasms and cancer, but I will sure be glad to see her again if I am blessed to be able to join her in heaven.

I think back to when I was a young Christian. I prayed for Mother [and requested prayer for her to be saved] for over 17 years before she actually accepted the Lord as her personal Savior. She thought it would be so hard to get saved, but it was so easy she wondered why she hadn’t done it sooner. I’m so thankful she made that decision, so I have a hope of seeing her again. For any of her children, who are not living 100% by what the Bible says, you will never see our Mother again. How sad that would be – for you AND for her.

Spoke to Lena Conley a couple weeks ago. She was inquiring about so many people she used to know in Morgan County, and wondered about the progress of the tornado cleanup.

Bill and I recently spent a few days in Shelby with our daughter, Andrea Maynard and family. Our grandchildren, Ali and Johnny came back to KY with us for a short visit. Our daughter will be joining us on Monday to stay until Thursday. It will be so good to have them all here. I miss them very much and don’t get to see them NEAR as much as I’d like to.

Received a call from Virginia Terry recently. She sounds pretty happy in her new home in Sardinia, Ohio. I told her we miss her on 772.

Happy birthday to my Aunt Jan Davis in Yucaipa, California. She will be 75 years young on July 27th. She’ll kill me for putting her age in here, but she’ll have to come to KY to catch me. I’m happy for every one of those years. I thank her for helping raise me when I was a baby, for the clothes she made for me when I was young, for the ‘clown gown of many colors’ made with pieces of flannel she’d made Berlene pajamas and nightgowns out of, and for any and every other thing she did for me that I forgot to mention. I thank her for being there for me now, and for loving me with unconditional love.

I think a lot of people her age feel unneeded now, like it would be a blessing to just ‘go on,’ but I keep trying to tell her how much I NEED HER and please don’t leave me.

If you have a loved one, whether family or neighbor or friend that is alone, go visit them once in awhile. I’ve heard some of our older generation say it is sometimes MONTHS between visitors. There is no excuse for that! I’m stepping on my own toes here too. I’m guilty, the same as some of the rest of you. We need to try to do better. How could we better spend an hour or two of our time that to make someone feel special, in that we took the time to visit them?

Until later, God bless you and yours.

Notification of Rights Under FERPA

For Elementary and Secondary Institutions and Child Find

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords parents and students over 18 years of age (“eligible students”) or students who are attending a postsecondary institution certain rights with respect to the student’s education records. They are:

The right to inspect and review the student’s education records within forty-five (45) days of the day the District receives a request for access.

Parents or eligible students should submit to the school Principal/designee a written request that identifies the record(s) they wish to inspect. The Principal will make arrangements for access and notify the parent or eligible student of the time and place where the record(s) may be inspected.

The right to request the amendment of the student’s education records that the parent or eligible student believes are inaccurate, misleading, or in violation of the student’s privacy or other rights.

Parents or eligible students may ask the District to amend a record that they believe is inaccurate, misleading, or in violation of privacy or other rights. They should write the school Principal, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed, and specify why it is inaccurate, misleading, or in violation of their privacy or other rights.

If the District decides not to amend the record as requested by the parent or eligible student, the District will notify the parent or eligible student of the decision and advise him/her of the right to a hearing regarding the request for amendment. Additional information regarding the hearing procedures will be provided to the parent or eligible student when notified of the right to a hearing.

The right to consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student’s education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent.

One exception which permits disclosure without consent is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interests. A school official is a person employed by the District as an administrator, supervisor, instructor, or support staff member (including health or medical staff and law enforcement unit personnel); a person serving on the school Board; a person or company with whom the District has contracted to perform a special task (such as an attorney, auditor, medical consultant, or therapist); or a parent or student serving on an official committee, such a s disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks.

A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibility.

Upon request, the District discloses education records without consent to officials of another school district in which a student seeks or intends to enroll or to other entities authorized by law. {Note: FERPA requires a school district to make a reasonable attempt to notify the parent or eligible student of the records request unless it state in its Annual Notification (Annual FERPA Notice) that it intends to forward record on request.}

4) The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the District to comply with the requirements of FERPA. The name and address of the Office that administers FERPA is:

Family Policy Compliance Office
U.S. Department of Education
400 Maryland Avenue, SW
Washington, DC 20202-8520

“Directory information” is information contained in an educational record which would not generally be considered harmful or an invasion of privacy if disclosed. This information may be released without consent. “Directory information” includes the student’s name, addresses, telephone numbers, date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, photograph/picture, grade level, weight and height of members of athletic teams, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, and the most recent educational agency or institution attended. The parent, guardian, or eligible student currently enrolled may request that all or part of the “Directory information” be withheld. The request must be made in writing to the Principal of the child’s school within thirty (30) calendar days after the Annual FERPA Notice has been distributed in August. The written request must specifically state what information may be classified as “Directory information”.

The Morgan County School District keeps educational records in a secure computer system and in locked files in each school and Board of Education office.

For students who have been determined eligible for programs for special education, educational records will be destroyed at the request of the parent when they are no longer needed to provide educational programs or services. The Morgan County School District may destroy the educational records of a child without parent’s request seven (7) years after they are no longer needed to provide educational programs or services. Parents are advised that data contained in the records may later be needed for Social Security benefits or other purposes. The Morgan County School District may retain, for an indefinite period of time, a record of the student’s name, address, telephone number, grades, attendance record, classes attended, grade level completed, and year completed.

Children determined eligible for special education include those children with disabilities who have a hearing impairment, visual impairment, emotional-behavioral disability, deaf-blindness, other health impairment, specific learning disability, mental disability, multiple disabilities, speech or language impairment, developmental delay, orthopedic impairment, autism, or traumatic brain injury, and who because of such an impairment need specially designed instruction and related services.

The Morgan County School District has an ongoing “Child Find” system, which is designed to locate, identify and evaluate any child residing in a home, facility, or resident within its geographical boundaries, aged three (3) to twenty-one (21) years, who may have a disability and be in need of special education. This includes children who are not in school, those who are in public, private, or home school, those who are highly mobile such as children who are migrant or homeless, and those who are advancing from grade to grade, who may need but are receiving special education.

The Morgan County School District will make sure any child enrolled in its district who has a disability, regardless of how severe the disability, is provided an appropriate education at no cost to the parents of the child. Parents, relatives, public and private agency employees, and concerned citizens are urged to help the Morgan County School District find any child who may have a disability and need of special education services. The District needs to know the name and age, or date of birth of the child, the name, address, and phone number of the parent or guardian, the possible disability, and other information to determine if special education is needed.

Letter and phone calls are some of the ways the Morgan County School District collects the information needed. The information the school District collects will be used to contact the parents of the child and find out if the child needs to be evaluated or referred for special education services.

If you know of a child who lives in Morgan County, who may have a disability, and may need but is not receiving special education services, please call (606) 743-8002 or send the information to:

As part of these efforts, the Morgan County School District will use screening information, student records, and basic assessment information it collects on all children in the District to help locate those children who have a disability and need special education. Any information the District collects through “Child Find” is maintained confidentiality.

Written policies and procedures have been developed which describe the District’s requirements regarding the confidentiality of personally identifiable information and “Child Find” activities. There are copies in the Principal’s office of each school and in the Board of Education office. Copies of these policies and procedures may also be obtained by containing:

Consent before students are required to submit to a survey, analysis, or evaluation that concerns one (1) or more of the following protected areas (“protected information survey”) if the survey is funded in whole or in part by a program of the U.S. Department of Education (ED):

Political affiliations or beliefs of the student or student’s parent;
Mental or psychological problems of the student or student’s family;
Sex behavior or attitudes;
Illegal, anti-social, self-incriminating, or demeaning behavior;
Critical appraisals of others with whom respondents have close family relationships;
Legally recognized privileged relationships such as with lawyers, doctors, or ministers;
Religious practices, affiliations, or beliefs of the student or parents; or Receive notice and an opportunity to opt a student out of:

Any other protected information survey, regardless of funding;
Any non-emergency, invasive physical exam or screening required as a condition of attendance, administered by the school or its agent, and not necessary to protect the immediate health and safety of a student, except for any physical exam or screening permitted or required under state law; and

Inspect, upon request and before administration or use:

Protected information surveys of students;
Instruments used to collect personal information from students for any of the above marketing, sales, or other distribution purposes; and Instructional material used as part of the educational curriculum.

These rights transfer from the parents to a student who is eighteen (18) years old or an emancipated minor under State law.

The Morgan County School District has developed and adopted policies, in consultation with parents, regarding these rights, as well as arrangements to protect student privacy in the administration of protected information surveys and the collection, disclosure, or use of personal information for marketing, sales, or other distribution purposes. The Morgan County School District will directly notify parents of these policies at least annually at the start of each school year and after any substantive changes. The Morgan County School District will also directly notify, such as through U.S. mail or e-mail, parents or students who are scheduled to participate in the specific activities or surveys noted below and will provide an opportunity for the parent to opt his or her child out of participation of the specific activity or survey. The Morgan County School District will make this notification to parents at the beginning of each school year if the District has identified the specific or approximate dates of the activities or surveys at that time.

Caney Valley News

By Tracey B. Hatton

July 23--Hello again from Caney Valley. In 1st Corinthians 13:4, "Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up." Love and respect in a marriage is necessary. It is not an option. There are key aspects in a marriage relationship: Love, Honor, and Respect. It has to be on both parts, husband and wife, if it is not, there will be problems. A person wants to love and to be loved. That is human nature. A person wants respects and will give respect when shown respect. Neither husband nor wife is to be a "maid, slave, or servant" to the other spouse. A spouse is to help each other. We are to share the duties of daily living. Now it is true, that there are tasks that men do and there are tasks that women do, but more importantly there are many, many, tasks that can be shared. When doing things together, you spend time together. You are able to talk, laugh, and get things accomplished. You will find that working with your mate is more fun than you could imagine. When one spouse slacks on helping, this can cause real problems. There will be resentment and it can place a wedge between that couple. Satan will use problems like this and will do everything he can to destroy that couple. Spouses don't take advantage of each other. Don't take your relationship for granted. Many scriptures that we learned as a child applies today. In Ephesians 4:32, "And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you." It is so important to understand that one needs to love themselves. They need to seek God and to give their heart to Him. Once a person has that relationship with God, their marriage can thrive. It is like a triangle with the Lord being at the top and each spouse being on one side. The closer you get to the Lord, the closer relationship you will have with your spouse. (This is a relationship that each one should desire and should work to), things will not always be rosy and wonderful, but when the down times come, then depend on God and depend on each other. If Christ abides in you, then your heart will want to love. That love will be overflowing to your spouse and will give you strength. In Isaiah 40:31, "But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint."

Happy birthdays: Gene Cravens, Jaycee Frederick, Joretta Oney, Barbara May, Ernie Vance, Colton Gevedon and Austin Blanton.

Happy anniversary: Congratulations to Jason and Jacqueline Elam Oney on their 1 year anniversary on July 23rd.

Uncle Woodford Henry had his 95th birthday on Saturday, July 21st. He has had many wonderful birthdays with family members throughout the years. The Lord has blessed him with good health and a clear mind.

Mom, Patty Barker Griffin, turned 70 years old on July 23rd. She won't mind me telling her age, because she has been blessed. Many times people who do not know her or her daughters, may meet us out and they think she is our sister. That is good for our mother, but I am not sure what that is saying about us. We were unable to celebrate with her on her birthday, because Cecil has been sick and we are waiting for him to get out of the hospital so we can all celebrate mom's birthday.

B.J. Hatton, Boone's son, turned 23 on July 21st. He spent his birthday helping us. It is hard to believe that our children are growing up so fast. We appreciate him helping us.

Boone seen Jimmie Ross the other day and he told Boone that his wife, Lennie Ross, was still in the hospital at St. Claire Medical Center for therapy after falling and breaking her hip.

Prayer requests: Lennie Ross, Cecil and Patty Griffin, Betty Dunn, Harold and Joanie Barker, Brandon Bailey, Berchlene and Woodford Henry, Joretta Oney, Stanley and Avanel Whisman, the Tolson family in the loss of a son and mother. They need prayers for strength and for a healing of their heart. Remember our school systems. Remember one another in prayer.

Betty Dunn is now receiving therapy at Morgan County ARHJ hospital after breaking her hip on July 12th. She is in good spirits and hope to be back to Brushy Fork church soon.

We will be having church at Brushy this Sunday. We will be observing communion and footwashing and then have dinner following the service.

May the Lord bless and keep you.

MORGAN COUNTY FOOTBALL

Tough schedule awaits Cougars as the football season nears

By David Patrick

We're now less than a month away from the start of the 2012 high school football season. Expectations are high in West Liberty as the Cougars return the core of a team that recorded a school-record eight wins last year.

Morgan opens up on the road at Boyd County on August 24. The Lions will already have one home game under their belt by playing Shelby Valley the week prior. Boyd will also have payback on its mind after a 32 - 0 shutout loss in West Liberty last August, a game the Ashland media had predicted would be a convincing Boyd County victory (which fueled the fire for an emotional Coach Turner pre-game speech).

The Lions did recover to beat the likes of Greenup County, West Carter and Magoffin County before finishing 5 - 6 on the season.

Week two may be the most anticipated night in school history as Morgan opens the home portion of its schedule against Estill County. The game is expected to garner much media attention with it being the first contest at Herdman Field following March's devastating tornado that destroyed much of the facility.

Lexington television stations are expected to live reports from West Liberty that evening, with WKYT-TV making tentative plans to send its helicopter. The game should also get attention from national media outlets. The emotions will certainly be running high for Morgan as a record crowd is expected for this historic occasion.

The Cougars will stay at home the following week as the calender turns to September by hosting Pendleton County.

Quarterback Larrin Collins passed for 148 yards and three touchdowns as Morgan posted a season-high 66 points in a 43-point blowout in Falmouth last season.

After going back on the road at South Floyd on September 14, the Cougars return home for back-to-back games against Middlesboro and Jackson County, respectively.

Of course, who could ever forget last year's memorable 38 - 34 upset of Middlesboro, less than a year after being soundly beaten (47 - 8) by the Yellow Jackets in the state playoffs.

Morgan will play all but one of its final four games on the road, with the lone exception being a home date with district-rival Breathitt County on October 12. The Cougars will visit Knott Central, Magoffin County and East Carter, in that order, to close out the regular season.

Grants for farmers to be offered

The 2012 County Agricultural Investment Program (CAIP) will be offered once again for farmers. There will be $182,198 available for the various categories under this grant. The grants are on a 50/50 match and are administered by the Morgan County Fiscal Court and the Morgan County Agricultural Development Board and facilitated by the Morgan County Cooperative Extension Service.

In order to be eligible for these grants, producers must submit a valid Farm Serial Number and a copy of 2011 Schedule F form filed with last year's taxes as proof of farming activity. Guidelines for the categories can be found on the web at <http://agpolicy.ky.gov/funds/caip.shtml>

Applications will be made available at the Extension Service, County Judge's office and farm stores beginning August 6th. They must be postmarked returned by August 27th--no hand delivered copies will be accepted.

Categories to be offered include:

Parents are advised that data contained in the records may later be needed for Social Security benefits or other purposes. The Morgan County School District may retain, for an indefinite period of time, a record of the student's name, address, telephone number, grades, attendance records, classes attended, grade level completed, and year completed.

Children eligible for Special Education include those children with disabilities who have autism, deaf-blindness, developmental delay, emotional-behavior disability, hearing impairment, mental disability, multiple disabilities, orthopedic impairment, other health impairment, specific learning disability, speech or language impairment, traumatic brain injury, or visual impairment and who because of such an impairment need Special Education services. Children eligible for 504 services include those children who have a current physical or mental impairment that currently substantially limits some major life activity which causes the student's ability to access the school environment or school activities to be substantially limited.

The Morgan County School District has an ongoing "Child Find" system, which is designed to locate, identify and evaluate any child residing in a home, facility, or residence within its geographical boundaries, age three (3) to twenty-one (21) years, who may have a disability and be in need of Special Education or 504 services. This includes children who are not in school; those who are in public, private, or home school; those who are highly mobile such as children who are migrant or homeless; and those who are advancing from grade to grade, who may need but are not receiving Special Education or 504 services. The district's "Child Find" system includes children with disabilities attending private or home schools within the school district boundaries who may need special education services.

The Morgan County School District will make sure any child enrolled in its district who qualifies for Special Education or 504 services, regardless of how severe the disability, is provided appropriate Special Education or 504 services at no cost to the parents of the child.

Parents, relatives, public and private agency employees, and concerned citizens are urged to help the Morgan County School District find any child who may have a disability and need Special Education or 504 services. The District needs to know the name and age, or date of birth of the child; the name, address, and phone number(s) of the parents or guardian; the possible disability; and other information to determine if Special Education or 504 services are needed. Letters and phone calls are some of the ways the Morgan County School District collects the information needed. The information the school District collects will be used to contact the parents of the child and find out if the child needs to be evaluated or referred for Special Education or 504 services.

If you know of a child who lives within the boundaries of the Morgan County School District, who may have a disability, and may need but is not receiving Special Education or 504 services, please call or send the information to:

Weather scientists stress human role in global climate change

Become more forceful in challenging skeptics

July 12 — Some of the weather extremes recently witnessed around the world have become far more likely because of human-induced global warming, researchers reported Tuesday. Justin Gillis reports in The New York Times that a new study found "that global warming made the severe heat wave that afflicted Texas last year 20 times as likely as it would have been in the 1960s. The extremely warm temperatures in Britain last November were 62 times as likely because of global warming," the report found. The findings, writes Gillis, "especially the specific numbers attached to some extreme events, represent an increased effort by scientists to respond to a public clamor for information about what is happening to the earth's climate. Studies seeking to discern any human influence on weather extremes have usually taken years, but in this case, researchers around the world managed to study six events from 2011 and publish the results in six months." The study was released along with a broader report on the state of the world's climate. Both are to be published soon in the Bulletin of the American Meteorological Society.

Gillis, The Times' environmental reporter, meanwhile, is among the targets of The American Tradition Institute (ATI), a conservative group that is using public records requests to publicize emails between reporters and climate scientists to suggest "collusion" between the media and environmental establishments, reports Greenwire (behind a pay wall).

Scientists are beginning to argue more forcefully to the public that climate-change skeptics are ignoring well-established scientific facts. A dozen scientists at the University of Kentucky listed Wednesday what is known about the human role in climate change for readers of The Lexington Herald-Leader. The professors list what is recognized among scientists today: Carbon dioxide and other greenhouse gases have increased steadily in the atmosphere since the mid-19th century; that increase is "well-correlated" with fossil-fuel consumption and changes in land use, and the gases trap increasingly more heat, so the surface, oceans and lower atmosphere are warming.

"Multiple surveys of credentialed climate scientists show at least 96 to 98 percent agreement with these fundamentals," the scientists write. They note that the National Academy of Sciences has published a position statement affirming the fundamentals of human-induced climate change, as have over 100 other scientific societies, including the academies of all major democracies and the American Meteorological Society. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) and many other federal departments and agencies have been studying climate change for years. An international, interdisciplinary collection of thousands of expert scientists has summarized the evidence for the central role of human activities in causing climate change, in reports of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change.

"As professors and publishing scientists, we are trained skeptics, and we look for credible evidence that refutes the fundamentals on climate change. However, it simply isn't there," the scientists write. "What about all the skeptical 'science' on the Internet? If those authors have the evidence to support what they say, they should submit a manuscript to a credible scientific journal, or present their ideas at a major scientific conference."

A Funny

A friend's son was in the first grade. His teacher asked the class, "What is the color of apples?" Most of the children answered red. A few said green. Kevin, my friend's son, raised his hand and said white. The teacher tried to explain that apples can be red, green or sometimes golden, but never white. Kevin was quite insistent and finally said, "Look inside."

WHAT SIZE IS GOD?

"Nature is God's workshop. The sky is his resume, The universe is his calling card.

You want to know who God is? See what he has done. You want to know his power? Take a look at his creation. Courious about his strength? Pay a visit to his home address: 1 Billion Starry Sky Avenue....

He is untainted by the atmosphere of sin. Unbridled by the time line of history.

Unhindered by the weariness of the body.

What controls you doesn't control him. What troubles you doesn't trouble him.

What fatigues you doesn't fatigue him. Is an eagle distrubed by traffic? No, he rises aboves a whale distruber by a hurricane? Of course not; he plunges beneath it. Is the lion flustered by the mouse standing directly in his way? No, he steps over it.

How much more is God able to soar above, plunge beneath, and step over the troubles of this earth!"

MAX LUCADO, THE GREAT HOUSE OF GOD:

It's been incredibly hot hasn't it? Up to three digits for quite some time and no rain. Then, lately the sky burst open with severe thunderstorms that have given us much needed rain and lower temperatures.

Life can be interesting. Up one day, down the next. Good weather bad weather, droughts and plenty of rain. Smooth happy days and dark painful lonely days. To be human is very complicated at times isn't it.

I am glad my God is beyond all the fickenless of life — the ups and down, the gains and losses, the joy and the impossible situations.

WHAT SIZE IS GOD? I like this passage from the Bible. "What is impossible with man is possible with God" (Mat. 19:20)

When life gets crazy and out of control, remember who's not and go to Him. When life is busting out with happiness and being loved, be thankful to Him. When your world seems beyond your control and is headed for a disasster you believe you cannot control, go to one who is capable of turning impossibilities into rescues.

Have a great day. WHAT SIZE IS GOD? Big enough to handle the universe, and personal enough to love you with all of his heart. (John 3:16-17)

Leonard Stone, Minister, Campton Christian Church, Main Street, Campton

YOU NEVER REALLY LIVED

You may own many mansions, much silver and much gold, you may have success in life and feel you've reached your goal. All of this can't save or satisfy your soul, unless you have salvation, you've really missed the goal. Get acquainted with Jesus, everything seems new. Things that you once hated are the things you'll want to do. You'll go to church on Sunday, attend prayer meetings, too. You'll learn to love your neighbors, and all your enemies, too. (Submitted by Alpha Clevenger)

High court says inmates can be counted in home voting districts, which are mostly urban

In Kentucky, prison inmates are counted by the Census Bureau as residents of the counties in which they are incarcerated, i.e., Morgan County's total population as recorded by the Census Bureau includes all inmates held in the Eastern Kentucky Correctional Complex at West Liberty.

However, states can now count prison inmates at their last known address instead of their prison address for election redistricting purposes, according to a U.S. Supreme Court ruling. The decision upholds a districting map the Maryland General Assembly drew last year, David Hill of The Washington Times reports.

Activists had sued the state claiming the map violated the Constitution because it differed from the U.S. Census Bureau's policy of counting inmates at their prison address. "Critics of the federal policy say it has artificially inflated the populations and voting power of the often-rural districts that contain prisons, while reducing the influence of urban areas where many inmates formerly lived," Hill writes. Critics said prisoners don't use the resources of the prison's district, and should not be counted in those districts as a result. Some argued the map disenfranchised black voters and Republicans.

Maryland is one of four states that counts prisoners at their home addresses. The others are California, Delaware and New York. The ruling is expected to benefit Baltimore most since it has steadily lost residents and legislative seats, Hill reports. But, remote areas of Western Maryland and the Eastern Shore are likely to suffer because they "benefited in redistricting from numbers provided by inmates," Hill writes.

121 entries in annual Kiwanis Horse Show

With the F-3 tornado barely missing the Morgan County Equestrian Park, the annual West Liberty Kiwanis Club Charity Horse Show was held there on June 23 as scheduled. The twister was within sight of the show ring as it crossed Liberty Road from Woodsbend.

The Kiwanis Club would like to express its appreciation to all who helped in any way with the show, especially the sponsors, some of whom were hit by the tornado but still showed their support, and also some out-of-town sponsors who were kind enough to help in a pinch.

Thanks to the following: West Liberty Tourism Commission, Morgan Judge Executive Tim Conley and county government, East Kentucky correctional complex, 172 Fire Department, show vet Derel Caudill, Morgan County Ambulance Service, Licking Valley Courier, WLKS Radio, Little Caesar's Pizza (food for officials), Subway (food for officials), McDonald's of West Liberty (treat bags for Leadline and Stick Horse classes), Mountain Telephone, All Occasion Flowers (long-stem roses for Ladies Class), Eddie Castle, Keith Gullett and Morgan County Equestrian Park Committee, Red Bud Florist (floral blankets for championship classes), Morgan County DAV Chapter 132 (color guard), Conley Family Relay for Life Team (working admission gate), Glenda Franklin (center ring decorations, ribbon and awards coordinator), Morgan County Extension Service, Shirley Puckett, Morgan County Sorghum Queen Brianna Lindon, Justine Griesenaur (presenting ribbons), Rev.
